

“1 of 36 Rabbis Shaping 21st-Century Judaism” - The Forward

RABBI BRENT SPODEK

His work has been featured in the New York Times, and he has been recognized by the Jewish Forward as one of the most inspiring rabbis in America, by Hudson Valley Magazine as a Person to Watch and by Newsweek as "a rabbi to watch." He is also a Senior Rabbinic Fellow of the Shalom Hartman Institute. Previously, Rabbi Brent served as the Rabbi in Residence at American Jewish World Service and was a Rabbinic Fellow at Congregation B'nai Jeshurun in New York.

WORKSHOP

 March 17th

 7:30 - 9:00 PM

 Zoom Only

Me, You, and the Space
Inbetween: Building
Nourishing Relationships

What will you learn?

- Judaism has Listen (Shema) as its central liturgy and partnered text study (hevruta) as a central devotional practice. We'll explore the tremendous resources the Jewish tradition has to help us enrich our personal relationships.

Rabbi Brent
Pardes N. America
Faculty

Please RSVP
$10 Suggested Donation
Email osrsassistant@gmail.com
with any questions

RSVP

Me, You, and the Space Inbetween: Building Nourishing Relationships

RSVP for Me, You, and the Space Inbetween: Building Nourishing Relationships by scanning or clicking on the QR code.